Access to free school supplies is critical to daily classroom activities.

"These supplies have created greater equity in learning."

"The supplies that I have received have helped free up my time to focus on lesson plans and to create in depth learning experiences. The students have everything they needed to begin activities immediately and do not feel bad about not having a supply they need."

"It really allows me and the students to focus on more important, academic issues instead of dealing with basic barriers to learning like lack of paper and pencil."
